

RECEIVED
CENTRAL FAX CENTER

APR 21 2008

·APPLICANT(S): STEPHENS, Adrian
·SERIAL NO.: 10/812,660
FILED: March 29, 2004
Page 2

AMENDMENTS TO THE SPECIFICATION

Please replace the Abstract with the following amended Abstract:

-- ~~According to various aspects, methods~~ Methods and devices for multicasting in wireless networks may include ~~one or more client devices sending requests for delivery of application data packets to a network access station information which required by for example an application running on a client device.~~ The requests may include a multicast address and QoS attributes. ~~The network access station may create a~~ A multicast schedule which coordinates the multicast delivery with power saving protocols of the client device ~~devices may be created in response to the requests~~ so that the client devices will be awake when the multicast occurs, ~~and the information may be sent to the clients according to the multicast schedule.~~ The client devices may also instigate removal of a multicast schedule when the ~~application data packets are~~ information is received or no longer needed by sending schedule deletion requests ~~to the access station.~~ When a deletion requests request is received from the last client device ~~associate~~ associated with a multicast schedule, the schedule may be removed. ~~Additional embodiments and implementations are also disclosed.~~ Other embodiments are described and claimed.--